Kas Bano
36 Years

Life is a unique puzzle - sometimes a little help gives a glimmer of hope, making things bearable for those in pain. The same is the case of patient Kas Bano; she travels to TKC for dialysis thrice a week from a very distant area in Balochistan. 36 years old and very brave, Kas Bano makes a 5-hour journey via public transport to reach TKC, where she then undergoes dialysis, all to better her health. Every journey costs Rs. 500 to reach The Kidney Centre and make it back home.

Kas Bano is a mother to six children. Her husband is a peon and earns Rs. 22,000, and one of her sons is a labourer who earns Rs. 500 per day. In Balochistan, there is no proper dialysis treatment available, which compels Kas Bano to travel such long distances thrice a week. She has made exceptionally good progress.

Dialysis is a lifelong and expensive treatment, and patients such as Kas Bano are in need of your Zakat and donations to support their treatment.

41-year old Badar Muhammad Khan is a dialysis patient, visiting The Kidney Centre since the past 8 years. He lives with his brother who supports him in all his living expenses, but all medical expenses are borne by Badar - however he is no longer able to earn because of his health. Badar is a taxi driver and earns daily wages only when his health allows him to do so. He is greatly in need of your generous support for his medical treatment - dialysis is a lifetime process for the patient.

Patients like M. Badar need your Zakat and donations for their treatment.

Faheem Mir Afzal Khan is 24 years old and has been coming to The Kidney Centre since 2 years for dialysis. At his job as an office boy, Faheem suddenly suffered severe stomach and kidney pain. He was rushed to the Emergency at a nearby hospital and was admitted to the ICU because his blood pressure wasn't stable. Doctors recommended Faheem be shifted to The Kidney Centre. On admission to TKC, it was recommended that dialysis be started as soon as possible otherwise both Faheem's kidneys will suffer damage. Faheem is a deserving dialysis patient in need and cannot afford his medical expenses. He is the main earner in his family, and one elder brother is supporting him in his treatments. In this trying situation, TKC provided welfare support to Faheem - today, Faheem works at his job while also coming in for his treatments.
